DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 4-5, 8-9 are pending. The Amendment filed 1/26/04 has been entered, wherein claim 1 was amended and claim 7 was cancelled.

The Appeal Brief filed 4/23/04, is acknowledged. However, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED in light of the new art found which reads on the instant invention. Thus, to avoid abandonment of the application, Applicant is respectfully requested to file a reply under 37 CFR 1.11 since this is a non-final Office Action.

The Amendment to the claims filed 1/26/04 and the teachings of the art, wherein pullulan-cholesterol derivatives are well established (see for example the primary reference relied upon below), are sufficient to overcome the 35 USC 112 rejection in the previous Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4-5, 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sunamoto et al. (English Translation of JP 03-292301).

Sunamoto et al. disclose polysaccharide-sterol derivatives. Exemplified is an emulsion comprising 10mg oil (glycerol tricaprylate, a cosmetic component), 5mg pullan-cholesterol derivative, and 1mL water (a cosmetic component), a percent weight of 0.5% pullan cholesterol derivative and 95.5% cosmetic components (oil and water), see page 14. For the pullancholesterol derivative having the structure of formula (1) of the instant claims, see page 2, claim

1. For 0.1-6 units per 100 monosaccharide units, see page 2, claim 1.

It is respectfully pointed out that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Thus, the intended uses of claims 8 and 9 are not afforded patentable weight.

It is further respectfully pointed out that the recitation "cosmetic" has not been given patentable weight because the recitation occurs in the preamble. A preamble is generally not accorded any patentable weight where it merely recites the purpose of a process or the intended use of a structure, and where the body of the claim does not depend on the preamble for completeness but, instead, the process steps or structural limitations are able to stand alone. See In re Hirao, 535 F.2d 67, 190 USPQ 15 (CCPA 1976) and Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d 150, 152, 88 USPQ 478, 481 (CCPA 1951).
